Subject: Microsoft Settlement

To whom it may concern,

Thanks to the heroic efforts of the Department of Justice in its case against Microsoft, there is room for hope for a of future technological progress unencumbered by Microsoft's monopolistic rule. However, the Settlement currently under consideration falls will not succeed in preventing future abuses by Microsoft. Most glaringly absent from the settlement is any mention of punitive measures available to the Technical Committee; the committee, therefor, has no recourse but another expensive and slow round of court hearings.

Thank you for taking the time to consider the public's input,
